

From the Desk of

Jacquelin Collins, Superintendent

It's almost February and you know what that means -- Happy Valentine's Day to our Charter School Authority, a.k.a., the sweetest place on earth!

February is also Black History Month. From the first female self-made millionaire, to artificial intelligence and deep learning, the contributions our fellow African-Americans have made, and continue to make, can't be ignored

CSA System Update

Jacquelin Collins, Superintendent

- The remaining safety features are still on hold according to our Project manger with the City. The Department of Community Development has not approved our schematics for creating interior breezeway doors and we need to go back to Haskell to have the plans reworked. We are projecting installation will be over the summer. Additionally, there has been no progress on guard shack. The City is understaffed and many projects are behind in addition to ours.
- I am doing some research on Municipal Charter Schools in the State of Florida. Out of the six municipal charters school systems, only two are run and operated by their respective cities with no management company. Neither of these two systems are as large as our system, nor do they receive local discretionary tax dollars.
- Adventura City of Excellence School (grades K - 8). Managed by Charter Schools USA

Business Management

MaryAnne Moniz, Business Manager

- Applications for E-Rate (USAC) has been completed and filed for next fiscal year. Category 2 has been submitted for the purchase of a new server requested by the City IT Division. The cost of the server is $49,640 in which we would receive the reimbursement of $30,000 from E-Rate.
- As part of our Safety Meetings, we have submitted proof of various safety purchases to Risk Management with hopes of receiving $6,000 in Safety Grant

Maintenance

Brent Richardson, Building Maintenance Supervisor

- Over Spring Break supervised installation and testing of two new A/C roof top units (RTUs) at Oasis High. This approved equipment is part of the Capital Equipment program.

Procurement and Food Service

Danielle Jensen, Director

- City council approved a 60-month operating lease with MailFinance, to provide our Neopost mailing system service. The mailing system will be delivered and installed in April.
- Two 80-ton roof top units(RTUs)were installed at OHS over spring break. No issues developed and the project is complete.

IT /Tech Support

Steve Cole, Network Support Analyst

- We are in the final stages of implementing Lanschool in the high school. This software monitors student activity on individual Chromebooks.

Athletics

Frank Haba, Oasis High Athletic Director

- Purchased equipment for Shark Tank scoreboard in hopes of improving its performance. Also purchased replacement microphone for Shark Tank PA system. (current microphone inconsistent in performance).
- Oasis HS will be the host site for 5A-10 girls basketball playoff semi-final

Christa McAuliffe Elementary

Kevin Brown, Principal

Open House for Kindergarten was an astounding success!

We estimated about 150 people in attendance.

Currently we have 4 openings

Oasis Elementary School

Christopher Cann, Principal

Oasis Elementary students showed their holiday spirit with spectacular family entertainment, and of course, a Jingle Jog-a-thon!

Oasis Elementary

Students are working hard to read Sunshine State Young Reader Books!

Oasis Elementary

After learning that their pen pals up north were walking to school in freezing weather, first and second grade students collected warm clothing

Oasis Middle School

Donnie Hopper, Principal

Our Open House was a huge success in mid-January. Over 200 families came out in hopes of making Oasis Middle School their new school home.
